Children and young people can play outdoor matches

The Public Health Agency has decided that occasional outdoor matches and sports competitions will now be possible for children and young people born in 2002 or later.

For clubs involved in team sports, it will be possible to arrange one outdoor match or competition day per team and week for children and young people born in 2002 or later.

For individual sports, children and young people can compete or participate in one match outdoors a maximum of once a week. Matches and competitions must be held locally or within a limited travelling distance.

These new adjustments to the general recommendations will apply from 28 April 2021.
